Defendant.

SUPERSEDING INFORMATION

S1:14-cr-00272-JSR

COUNT ONE

(Conspiracy to Commit Wire Fraud and Bank Fraud)

The Department of Justice charges:

1. From at least in or about May 2006 through at least in or about early 2011, in the Southern District of New York and elsewhere, TAKAYUKI YAGAMI, together with Paul Robson, Paul Thompson, and Tetsuya Motomura, and others known and unknown, did knowingly combine, conspire, confederate, and agree to commit certain offenses against the United States, that is:

(A) to devise and intend to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud, and to obtain money and property by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, and to transmit and cause to be transmitted certain wire communications in interstate and foreign commerce for the purpose of executing the scheme; to wit, the defendant and others engaged in a scheme to manipulate and attempt to manipulate the benchmark interest rates referenced by derivative products throughout the financial industry to their advantage, by the dissemination, and submission, of false and fraudulent statements intended to influence and manipulate the benchmark interest rates to which the profitability of interest rate derivative trades was tied, and the conspirators contemplated, foresaw, and caused use of wires in interstate and foreign commerce in carrying out the scheme, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343; and (B) to execute and attempt to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud a financial institution, the deposits for which were at the time insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; and to obtain and attempt to obtain moneys, funds, credits, assets, and other properties owned by and under the custody and control of a financial institution by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, as well as by omission of material facts in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1344.

2. It was a part and an object of the conspiracy that TAKAYUKI YAGAMI, the defendant, and others known and unknown, engaged in a scheme to manipulate and attempt to manipulate a benchmark interest rate known as the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), to which was tied the profitability of interest rate derivative trades in which the defendant and others had a financial interest. The scheme had an effect on one or more financial institutions, within the meaning of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 20 and 3293(2).

OVERT ACT

3. On or about February 27, 2008, TAKAYUKI YAGAMA and Paul Robson conspired to fix and manipulate the day's LIBOR rate by causing their employer, Coöperatieve Centrale Raiffeisen-Boerenleenbank B.A. (Rabobank), a financial institution and global financial services company headquartered in Utrecht, the Netherlands, to make a LIBOR submission that was calculated to benefit TAKAYUKI YAGAMI'S trading position. On or about March 28, 2008, this manipulation caused LBI, an investment bank that had entered into a derivative trade with Rabobank, to make a wire transfer from the Southern District of New York to Rabobank in Utrecht, the Netherlands.

(Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349)
